19/03/2026	Holiday (Gudi Padwa)
20/04/2026	• create post scrapper but failed (Vrushank Thakkar, Harshil Vaniya) • Studied function implementation for username search based on Google Dorking. (Shalomo Agarwarkar)
21/03/2026	Holiday (Eid)
22/03/2026	Holiday (Sunday)
23/03/2026	• solve breached issue in hibp one but failed (Harshil Vaniya, Vrushank Thakkar) • Checked the benefits and justified use of this technique in terms of OSINT (Shalomo Agarwarkar)
24/03/2026	• Successfully bought breached details of HIBP in code without using api (Harshil Vaniya, Vrushank Thakkar) • Continued Development of the user's name module for passive OSINT. (Shalomo Agarwarkar)
25/03/2026	• Integrating updated user modules (Vaniya Harshil) • completed the module and tested it independently. Printed 50 results. (Shalomo Agarwarkar) • Increase the accuracy of the email module (Vrushank Thakkar)

Next Week Plan	Solving compatibility issues with GitHub and fully completing the first version

SCREEN SHOTS:

The image shows a development environment with Visual Studio Code and a web browser. In VS Code, the file explorer on the left shows a project structure with files like `module.py`, `test.py`, and `test2.py`. The main editor displays a Python script for testing a website. The script defines a `test` function that checks for the presence of a 'good news' message and a 'bad news' message. The test is run using `pytest`. The terminal at the bottom shows the command `python run.py` and the output of the test, which lists the found URLs: `found: 4`, `url: http://www.officetop.com`, `url: http://www.officetop.com`, `url: http://www.officetop.com`, and `url: http://www.officetop.com`. The browser window shows the Playwright documentation website, specifically the 'Getting started - Library' page. The page has a sidebar with navigation links like 'Getting Started', 'Installation', 'Writing tests', etc. The main content area is titled 'Getting started - Library' and 'Installation'. It provides instructions for installing Playwright using `Pip` and `Conda`. The `Pip` section shows the command `pip install playwright` and the `Conda` section shows the command `conda install playwright`. The right sidebar of the documentation page lists 'Installation' methods: `Pip`, `Conda`, `Usage`, `First script`, `Interactive mode (REPL)`, `Pyinstaller`, and `Known issues`. The `Known issues` section lists several issues, including `time.sleep()` leading to outdated state, incompatibility with `SelectorEventLoop` of `asyncio` on Windows, and `Threading`.

def test():
    # Add new lines
    result_lines.extend(lines)

    # Add testing assertions
    if "good news" in text or "no message found" in text:
        result_lines.append("HTTP STATUS: OK")

    if "ok no" in text or "passed" in text:
        result_lines.append("HTTP STATUS: OK")

    return result_lines

What Is a Google Dork?

A "Google dork" is an advanced Google search technique. "Google dorking" (aka "Google hacking") is the activity of performing advanced searches on Google. You can combine different Google dorks to comb data otherwise inaccessible to ordinary users of Google search.

Google Dorking is a powerful OSINT (Open Source Intelligence) technique. By using specific search queries, ethical hackers can locate exposed credentials, discover misconfigured directories, identify admin login panels, and even find unsecured cameras.

These search operators transform Google into an incredibly powerful and free reconnaissance tool, making it an essential skill for penetration testers and cyber security professionals.

Legal and Ethical Implications

It's crucial to recognize that Google Dorking has a fine line between ethical and unethical use, as well as between legal and illegal activities.

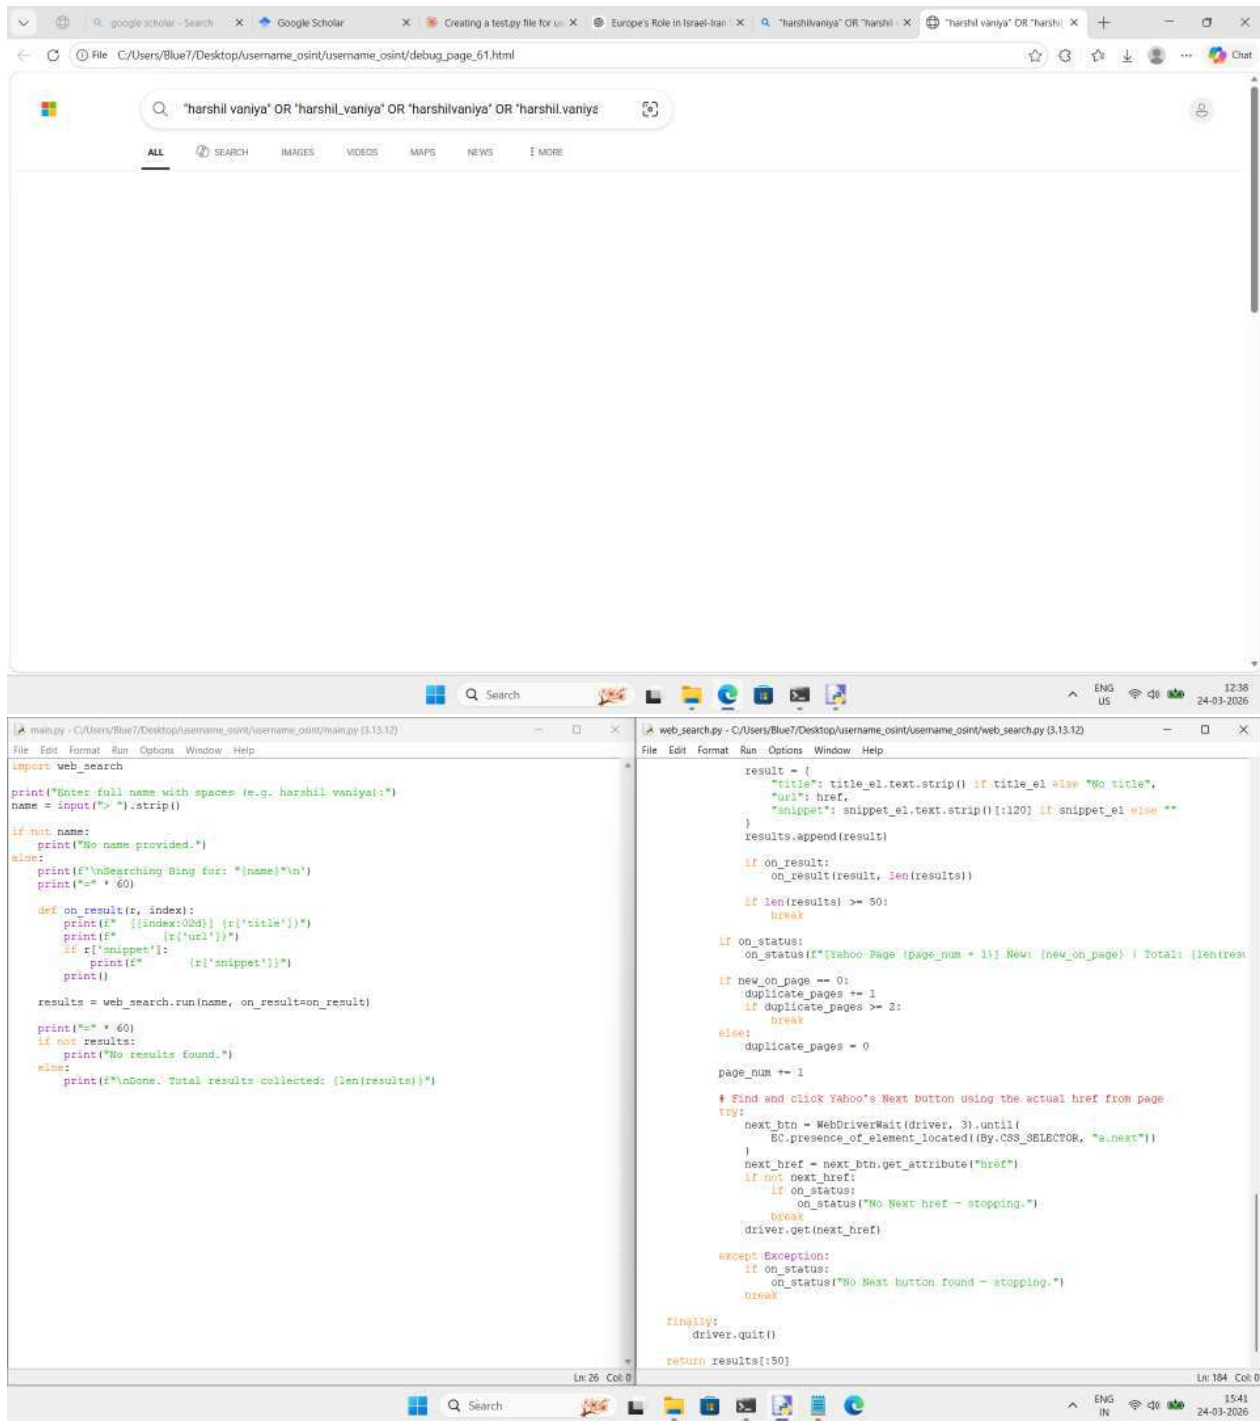

Google Dorking can uncover a treasure trove of information, but searching and interacting are two different things. While on Google, everything you are doing should be fine from a legal standpoint. Once you click a link, however, you are now interacting with the information, and
